From the Desk of VICE-CHANCELLOR

It is my great pleasure to present the first Annual Report of Gurugram University, Gurugram for the period March 2019 to Feb 2020. This report is a statutory requirement in terms of provisions of Section-28 of Gurugram University Act 17 of 2017.

During this period of Annual Report, the University made rapid developmental strides in all spheres.

Gurugram University aspires to be one of the most prestigious Universities of the country and is likely to be a microcosm of the Indian nation, drawing students from every nook and corner of the country and from every group and stratum of society. The University has started functioning from the campus of newly constructed Rao Tula Ram College of Science and Commerce from academic session 2018-19.

The university started its journey in path of progress with new initiatives in e-governance, infrastructure development, literary-cultural activities, social outreach etc. during this period.

Multifarious steps were taken to improve the overall ambience of the campus through better landscaping, plantation, and beautification drive. The University remained abuzz with a plethora of academic activities including national/international seminars/conferences, workshops, special lecture programmes, etc. organized by various University Teaching Depts. The University organized its first youth festival Shankhnad at the campus where 20 affiliated colleges participated with enuthisam. The University has signed a dozen MOU's with national and international organizations in order to boost the functioning of the university and placements of the students.

I am fully confident that the University will emerge as a Centre of Academic Excellence and establish its name among reputed universities at national and international level. ABOUT
GURUGRAM UNIVERSITY

India has been a light house of knowledge for over eight centuries in the ancient times. In fact, it was fondly called 'Vishav Guru'. It had many renowned centres for learning including Nalanda, Takshila, Ujaini, Vikrmi etc. until they were destroyed by invaders. Nalanda was proclaimed as,

> "One of the most important universities in the world was developed not in the medieval west, but right here in India: Nalanda University...was instrumental in producing people who are capable of understanding and articulating what it means to have universal knowledge, knowledge that is applicable across cultures and across times."
> Dr. Geoffrey Durham

The Nalanda University attracted scholars and students from near and far, some travelling all through the way from Tibet, China, Korea and central Asia in quest of knowledge. It was a centre of excellence not only for Ancient Indian wisdom, Buddhist studies and philosophy but for Medicine and Mathematics, Astronomy and Logic as well. After teaching thousands of students for centuries, Nalanda ceased to exist as universities were opening up in Bologna, Paris and Oxford at the beginning of the second millennium century. The shift of centres of knowledge from East to West was symbolic of the eventual transfer of power which followed within half a millennium. There is now a perfect opportunity to recreate the hallowed universalism of Nalanda as a centre of knowledge.

The Indian higher education system has undergone rapid expansion. In less than 20 years, the country has created additional capacity for a mammoth 40 million students.

While the scale of the expansion is remarkable in itself, what sets it apart from earlier decades of equally aggressive expansion is a deliberate strategy and an organized design of university system. In this learner-centred paradigm of education, students are encouraged to take greater responsibility for their learning outcomes and the university ceases to be the fountain-head of knowledge filling the empty receptacles of students' minds; instead students actively participate in the discovery of knowledge. This learner-centred approach would help to resolve the problem of equity in higher education.

The decision of the Haryana Government to open up a University at Gurugram endorses the plan to reestablish Indian Universities; underlines the commitment to rebuild India and particularly the State of Haryana as a seat of knowledge.

To sum up, the aim of the Gurugram University is to produce among the best-in-class knowledge creators, problem solvers and process managers, who also display deep social, cultural, ecological and national sensitivity and are collaborative leaders yet responsible citizens.

LOCUS OF Learning

The prime campus of Gurugram University is spread across 12,185 sq mt. of covered area which is very conveniently located at Sector-51, Gurugram. The lush green campus spread over 11.5 acres enveloped with serene beauty and environment is special both in terms of its physical beauty and location — a place where one could be away from the world, yet still be a part of it. Education and research are the twin pillars of this university and the ambience is one in which new ideas and creativity can flourish. The university is having well stacked modern library facilities, well equipped laboratories with modern scientific equipment for practical exposure of students. The university will soon have hostel facilities with salubrious and caring environment, transport, medical facilities, rejuvenation facilities and residential accommodation for academic and non-academic staff. To abbreviate Gurugram University will comprise of all world class amenities.
